Henckong, August 5th, 1878.

It is a subject of much congratulation that the important questions which arose out of the celebrated Kwon-A-sing trial were taken before the Privy Council for decision, as the appeal has resulted in a very valuable guide being afforded to the Colony with respect to future extradition cases, and the Lords of the Privy Council have very clearly expressed their dissent from any stretching of the law the coolie traffic, slave ships, &c., &c. The up to the Chinese authorities, committed well-known cautiousness of Appeal Courts in commenting on the language of the judges definite statement as to its having been wrong that Kwok-A-sing should have been allowed to go without being tried for piracy jure entirely disapproved of.

The Acting French Consul, M. CH. L. DE LA FOREST, also claimed Kwok-A-SING to be rendered up, on a charge of murdering Captain Lel Vigourrux, of the Nouvelie Penelove, but as it was evident that, had this rendition been granted, another writ of a German bark, an English schooner, and a Habeas Corpus would have been issued by the CHIEF-JUSTICE, and the proceedings rendered the second the John McKean, which left this abortive, he abandoned the application.

Upon this, the ATTORNEY-GENERAL, in order to prevent justice being defeated, had Kwon-a-sing arrested on a charge of piracy jure gentium, and the prisoner was brought up before Mr. May, and after the ovidence had been taken de novo, he was committed committed for trial, a second writ of Habeas Corpus to discharge the prisoner was granted by the CHIEF-JUSTICE, and the prisoner was | The unfortunate man, Ahmet, who was conset; at liberty on the ground that the commitment was the same as charged in the a very short time before the fatal hour, he prefirst warrant, and that the Police Magistrate from the time of his condemnation, but at the had no authority to commit the prisoner a last, as he was conducted to the scaffold, he second time for the same offence. the ATTORNEY-GENERAL. On the application of Kwok-A-sine's Attorney, the CHIEF JUSTICE at once granted a rule nist for a new trial and the ATTORNEY-GENERAL showed cause against the rule—but judgment has not been delivered upon this.

The above resume of the facts connected with this extraordinary trial, compared with the Judgment of the Lords of the Privy Council, recently published, will make clear to our readers the extent to which that judgment goes counter to the action which Chief-Justice Small took in the matter. They uphold his action in discharging KWOK-A-SING on the first writ of Habcas Corpus, because they hold that his offence. killing the captain of a French vessel at sea, ed. Within the space of a few seconds was not an offence against the laws of China, the cutter was backed to the spot, followand that, therefore, the Magistrate was mistaken in committing him on the application of the Chinese authorities; but in stating this, they are careful to note, although they say it is unnecessary for them by a very praiseworthy and gallant effort, in to enter on the point, that they dissent from the other grounds taken by the CHIEFcitate the body, but without success.

JUSTICE as to the vessel being a slaver, and Kwok-A-sing justified in killing the captain to regain his liberty. They say: "Having come to this conclusion, their lordships need not give any opinion upon the validity of the other grounds on which the CHIEF-JUSTICE thought Kwok-A-SING ought, on the first occasion, to be dis charged. They think, however, it is right to state they do not agree with the CHIEF-JUSTICE that the evidence before him proved that La Nouvelle Penclope was a slave ship, and that Kwor-A-sing, and the other coolies who acted with him, were justified in killing the captain and the French sailors for defendant knocked down constable No. 34, who Wong-a-hi, a letter carrier of the Sai-heang Inspector Cradock, sworn, stated he is in tober, 1872. In consequence of these instruc- Hankow £1,050 per annum, instead of £1,425 the purpose of obtaining their liberty." The fact that the Judges went out of their way to make this statement, shows that they had a very strong opinion on the subject, and will be sufficient to put an end to any such ruling, as was then made, for the future. As respects the CHIEF-JUSTICE'S ruling on discharging Kwok-A-sine the second time he was brought up before him, that is, on Habeas Corpus on his being committed for trial on a charge of piracy jure gentium, the Blair, with refusing to pay chair hire, alleging | his hat on top to keep it dry. They cannot agree "with the construction which the statute. The principal object of the section seems to be to prevent persons who have been brought up on a writ of Habeas Corpus, and discharged on giving bail, and entering on their own recognisances, from being again arrested for the same offence, and obliged to sue out a second time a writ of Habeas Corpus." They go on to say, they think the act can only apply when arrest is substantially for the same offence as the first, so that the return to the second writ of Habeas Corpus raisse for the opinion of the Court the same ground of detention as the first. The second warrant on which Kwok-A-sing was committed to take his trial for piracy jure gentium was a valid warrant, and the judgment tersely concludes that "their lordships think he ought not to have been discharged from his custody under that valid warrant, because he had previously been discharged from an unlawfulimprisonment."

Nothing could be clearer or more in accordance with common sense. The Magisin favour of individual opinions regarding | trate, in committing Kwok-A-Sing to be given technical error—the fact being that the wrong charge had been brought against the prifrom whom an appeal is made, makes the soner; but this was no reason, if he was after discharged on Habeas Corpus on account of this technical flaw, re-arrested, that he should be again discharged on a writ of gentium, more significant than would appear | Habeas Corpus, when he had been rightly without taking this fact into account; and committed. It is true both committals arose there can be no doubt that the proceedings of out of the same set of circumstances, but, in the CHIEF-JUSTICE on the point have been the one case Kwok-A-sing was charged with a crime against the Chinese Government, Our readers will recollect that the first which was not the nature of the crime for application for Kwok-A-sing's rendition was which he was prosecuted—in the other, he was made by the Chinese Government under charged with piracy jure gentium, which was the 21st article of the Tientsin Treaty, the nature of the crime alleged, and for which

THE GENEVA AWARD. The appropriement is made from Washing ton that Her Majestv's Government has made an arrangement through the Bank of England with its American correspondents, to deliver to the Secretary of State in Washington on or before September 13th $15,500,000, the sum payable under the Geneva award to the United States. - The money it is udded, will probably be delivered on September 10th, three days befor the expiration of the limit fixed by the Treaty. As soon as it is paid over, the Secretary, according to the terms of an Act of Congress passed at the last Session, will invest the money in the new Five per Cent. Funding Loan, and this Fund will remain in the Treasurv with its accumulating interest, subject to the future disposition of Congress. THE BANK NOTES BILL. The Chancellor of the Exchequer has a good apology to offer for submitting his Bank Notes Bill to the nation. The law on the subject, when cleared of technicalities, may be simply stated. The money of the country, which creditor is bound to receive in discharge of debta consists of coined gold and Notes—the latter being issued by a State agency in Threadneedle-street, under a rule that for all Notes issued an equal amount of gold shall be kept in its coffers, subject to a deduction of fifteen millions which has been withdrawn from them and used by the State. All above fifteen millions must be represented by gold; but the issue to the extent of that sum rests on the responsibility of the nation, which has borrowed it and owes it. This is the rule prescribed by the Act of 1844, but its operation has been thrice suspended. In 1847, 1857, and 1866 the State agency was 'authorized by the Executive Government to issue, on the credit of the State, Notes exceeding fifteen millions, and the Executive Government were subsequently indemnified by Parliament for directing these violations of the law. No one can be thoroughly contented with periodical violations of a law, especially whom he is told that what has happened before will most assuredly happen again. There is a strong temptation to argue that such suspensions of the Act of 1844 must be either inevitable or not inevitable. If they are not inevitable, they ought never to be allowed to occur ngain; if they are inevitable, it must be possible to determine beforehand the pircumstances making them necessary, and it would be better to define these circumstances and add to the Statute Book a new law allowing the Executive Government to direct the suspension of the principal Act when these circumstances shall again recur. We shall then have that done legally and by virtue of a Statute which is now done illegally n violation of a Statute. Mr. Lowe's Bill is an attempt to supply the demand contained in this reasoning. He would confer upon the Ministry the unpleasant appearance of an arbitrary aupersession of law once in ten years. NEW DOLLARS FOR CHINA. But where soldiers and missionaries have been buffled, the merchant is slowly but surely winning his way. Trade may be less magnificent in its progress than warfare, and its aims are avowedly lower than missionary effort; but its conquests are more durable, as its conduct is more prudent. The distinction, indeed, is very far from originating in any moral superiority on the part of the China merchants compared with the English soldiers who have lought in China, or with the English missionaries who have preached there.

THE CHINESE QUESTION.

(Alta California, June 16th.) ELOQUENT SERMON BY REV. DR. A. L. STONE. Last evening the First Congregational Church was growed to overflowing. The announcement that the Rev. Dr. Stone, Pastor of the Church, would give a sermon on the Chinese Question, awakened considerable interest, and excited much enriosity. We need not make any comment. We give the sermon in full; it is able to speak for itself:

thee in your land, ye shall not vex him. " But the strayger that dwelleth with you shall be unto you as one born among you, and thou shalt love him as thyself; for ye were strangers in the land of Ejypt; I am, the Lord your God." The breadth and humanity of this ancient ordinance for the Ismaelitish nation, considered on its own merits and without reference to its able and highly autritions food. It is not unauthor, are worthy of all admiration and honor. usual in the Western parts of America, as, in-There was some danger that the chosen people deed, in all new woodland countries where they exalted in the sense of their divine colling, abound, to eat them occasionally. To control this natural perjudice and prevent its expression in acts of cruelty and injustice, God issued the strong and explicit statuto which I have recited in your hearing. The legislation hid its grasp not only upon the outward conduct, but upon the feelings of the heart. It forbide all vexatious and oppressive measures on the part of the nation and individuals, and it inculented upon all a spirit of kindness and love. It strengthened its force by an appeal to the bitterness of their own experience in an alien land, and the greatness of the deliverance wrought for them by Him who was not more their God than the common God and Pather of the race. And this provision stands not alone of its kind. It is supplemented and re-echoed by many a kindred voice from Heaven: "Thou shalt neither vex a stranger, nor oppress him !" "Thou shalt not oppress a stranger, for ye know the heart of a stranger!" "Love ve therefore the stranger, for ye were strangers in the land of Egypt!" It cannot be alleged that the feeling of the divine heart thus exhibited, was a local and transient sentiment. The reasons for it go as deep as the heart of universal humanity, and reach as high as the fatherhood and lordship of the Orestor and Ruler of All. It stands recorded in this early page of revolution, that it may govern the long success sions of kingdoms and peoples down the story of time. It will be well for us to carry the spirit of this ordinance into the discussion upon which we enternow, and suffer it to govern our conculsions.

THE TEXT DE OUGHT HOME TO US. There has come practically before us of this community, a question of the treatment of an alien class of our population. In its large proportions the question is not a local one at all, and cannot be locally adjudicated. It has been taken up and passed upon by the supreme authority of the land, to which authority, whatever our private views and feelings may be, we owe allegiance. But as those who are geographically nearest the problem, who feel most sensibly the pressure of its conditions, and who are most immediately affected in our social and industrial interests by contact with this alien element, we are more concerned and absorbed in the discussion than any other portion of the American people. THIS IS NOT A CALIFORNIAN, BUT AN-AMERICAN QUESTION. In this special relation of ours to the subject we are in danger of taking narrow views of it. Such views, just so far as they lack breadth, must lack soundness and completeness. We must remember that this is not a Californian question, but an American question. It will be an unwarrantable assumption for us to sieak for the whole country. It is not for New York to say who shall land at Castle Garden, nor for San Francisco to say who shall have entrance at the Golden Gate. This grand set-portal is is not city property, like the entrance to a park -it belongs to the nation and the Continent What affects us, in this matter, has its weight, and ought to have, in settling the national policy; but there will be other weights to be cast also into the balances. If we would grash the elements of a conclusion that shall stand as right and just in all impartial judgment, if we would not underlie the reprobation of our fellow-countrymen and of mankind, we mus consider the question, not in the narrow sectional view, but in the broad, national and philanthrophic view, as representatives of American civilization, and as advocates of the best human progress.

WELCOME. For the purpose of this discussion we may divide the question into two parts: Shall this Chinese immigration, properly regulated, be welcomed? And, How shall these strangers be treated as they are found in the midst of us? Under the first inquiry; we stand at the outset face to face with the great American idea of opening this free and broad land as a refuge and a shelter to all who would neek its shores. We have stood within our magnificent domain, and feeling that we had room enough for all. and that we possessed the happiest and freest LUNDON AND PROVINCIAL MAKINE form of government of any nation on earth, we have said in the hearing of all the families of men, "Lift up your heads, oh ye gates, and he THE Undersigned having been appointed quarte pages. ve lifted up to asylum doors, that whoseeve will may enter in!" such a fresh and boundless beritage is scarcely entered upon. Two centuries and a half have gone and the great task lies before us, almost undiminished. There are roads to be made, forests" to be felled, streams to be bridged, cities, villages and homes to be built, mountains to b tunnelled, quarries and mines to be worked, orchards and vineyards to be planted, the manifold appliances of settled and civilized life to be created and introduced, the instruments, machinery, material, and products of manufac- BALDIS. tures and commerce to be wrought, and all this on a scale surpassing measurement, and we are only in the infancy of such gigantic enterprise. Extracts. MY OHOICE. BY JENNIE HARRISON. Yes: I know there are stains on my carpet-The traces of small, muddy boots:

And I see your fair tapestry glowing. All spotless, with blossoms and fraits! And I know that my walls are disfigured With prints of small fingers and hands; All fresh in its purity stands. Yes, I know my "black walnut" is buttered, And dented by many small heels

While your own poliched stairway, all perfect, Its smooth shining surface reveals And I know that my parlor is littered With many odd treasures and toys; While your own is in daintiest order, Unharmed by the presence of boys And I know that my room is invaded Quite boldly all hours of the day ; While you sit in your own unmalested,

And dream the soft quiet away ! Yes, I know I bave jackets that wear out, And buttons that never will star : While you can embroider at lesure, And learn protty arts of "crochet," And I know there are lessons in spelling, Which I must be patient to hear;

While you may sit down to your novel, Or turn the last magazine near. Yes, I know there are four little bedsteads Where I must stand watchful, each night: While you may go out in your carriage, And flash in your dresses so bright! Now I think I'm a neat little woman-I like my house orderly, too;

And I'm fond of all dainty belongings-Yet I would not change places with you. No! keep your fair home, with its order, Its freedom from trouble and noise; And keep your own fanciful !cisure; But give me my four splendid boys!

A woman can descend on these occasions to depths so low as to be past pursuit. She can be polite and civil, may, even attentive apparently, yet out and wound her inferior to the very marrow; the refinement and delicacy of her touch while she does so can only be compared to that of the French surgeon practising vivisection, whose concern is not how much he tortures, but how long he can keep his victim alive under the knife.
